Mission

My mission is to provide counseling in a collaborative and respectful manner to my clients. My intent is to create a welcoming, respectful, and safe space in which to explore problems and to open up new possibilities for clients to grow and change. I work in a collaborative manner with individuals and use integrative approaches that address emotional, spiritual, and physical well-being.

Confidentiality

Our counseling relationship as well as the storage and disposal of records will be kept confidential within legal and ethical limitations. Unless you pose a danger to yourself or to other people, you will be informed when information regarding you is being released. Excluding exceptions specified by law and stated below, and in accordance with established professional ethics, information will only be released if you authorize in writing the release of confidential information. This would then allow me, your counselor, to discuss your case with another person (i.e. doctor, teacher, or relative). Information may be released without your written consent in the following circumstances:

1. You pose harm to yourself or others.
2. You are suspected of the abuse of a single child, multiple children, an elderly person, or multiple elderly people.
3. You are under the age of 16, and have been sexually or physically abused, raped, or are the victim of another crime.
4. When the information is ordered by a court subpoena or a parole officer.
5. You require hospitalization.

Fees

My hourly rate is $120.00. Payment is due at the time of each session. Payment will be collected at the end of each session, and the client may pay by cash, check, or credit card.
